

STYLE

Personal property: The ambitious homes architects build for themselves

The home is a built form that allows the architect to explore and convert ideas into reality. The opportunities and potential for expression to expand the boundaries of building form and building space are endless.

Continue to Full Article on CNN Style Online